

Nutrition Software

Q. Can you name the only high-end nutrition software package whose nutrient data has been published in two million nutritional information books?

A. NutriBase IV (of course).

NutriBase is the only high-end nutrition software program whose nutrient data serves as the foundation for the industry's top-selling series of nutritional information books. Five of these seven books provide 700 pages of data. The Fast Food Nutrition Guide is thinner and the Nutrition Facts Desk Reference features nearly 1,000 pages bound in a large, 7.5" x 9.25" format. You'll recognize these books not only by their massive size, but because they are the only books with the right to include "NutriBase" in their titles.

The NutriBase series is published by Avery, a member of Penguin Putnam, Inc. For quantity sales information, call Consumer Sales at 800-788-6262. And to learn more about NutriBase software, visit us at www.nutribase.com.

NutriBase... the obvious choice.
